ONE DOLLAR AND FIFTY CENTS A YEAR IN ADVANCE

CLINIC WORK IN JACKSON AND CLAY COUNTIES

Miss Linda Neville was here Saturday enroute from McKee, Jackson County, where the United States Public Health Service held a wonderful trachoma clinic. So much of this trouble was found that the people are determined to stamp it out. Over forty operations were done and in six weeks there will be another inspection. The County Judge and County Medical Officer are working shoulder to shoulder toward the welfare of the children.

In connection with this work it is interesting to note that Judge Blingham, of the Courier-Journal, has offered a prize of five thousand dollars to the mountain county that makes the greatest improvement in educational, recreational, health, play and good roads movement in the next eighteen months. Eight counties have entered the contest to date.

Miss Neville, who represents the Red Cross gave us the information that beginning last Monday for four days Drs. Clarence DeWeese and George Wilson, specialists of Lexington, and Misses Hattie Brewer, Elizabeth Brown and Mae Cornelson, three registered nurses, would hold a clinic at Big Creek, Clay County, seventeen miles from Garrard. The clinic is for the treatment of eye, ear, nose and throat troubles, adenoids and diseased tonsils to receive special attention. The Red Cross is not putting on this clinic but is lending Miss Neville's services while the actual expenses are paid out of the Mountain Fund raised by Miss Neville. All necessary paraphernalia such as ether, etc. was sent ahead to Big Creek. The doctors and nurses passed thru Heidelberg Sunday and expected to be in Big Creek Sunday night.

The first week of October there will be a Federal trachoma clinic in Manchester.

The work at Big Creek is due to the interest and efforts of Dr. C. B. Marcum, of Big Springs.

100 COPPER STILL SOLD FOR JUNK AT PINEVILLE

One hundred copper stills captured in various raids in the county, were sold to a junk dealer from Cincinnati for copper manufacturers on the court house steps at Pineville Tuesday morning. The sale was made by Judge Rollins, United States Commissioner.

The officers around the court house evidently hated to give them up, so they posed among the hundred stills and had their pictures taken. Those appearing in the picture are Martin Green, sheriff, Doc Green, Ben Gibson, John Wilson, Federal agent, and Judge Creech. The sale has not entirely depleted the supply of stills, however, and the sheriff's office and the magistrate's office still have a number on hand. —Middlesboro Daily News.

Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Gibson, of Roundhead, Ohio, arrived here last Saturday.

HOW ABOUT IT, BOYS?

A gentleman in the country has written us that there is shortly to be a bootleggers and moonshiners conference. The gentleman mentioned is somewhat of a wag but why not have such a conference. We do not doubt that any of our ministers will be glad to open it with prayer if the conference is to deal with doing away with the business. What a beautiful solution of our excessive court activities it would be, wiping away about ninety per cent of the cases that now are entered on the docket.

Most of the men who are engaged in the business do not realize the harm they are doing or they would not handle the stuff. If they only could have presented to them on the screen the tragedies, horrors and suffering that are caused by moonshine and in which they are taking a hand, they would shrink back in horror.

Nevertheless, they are making such a picture on the eternal screen and may one day be forced to look on while it is unrolled for them to see. We cannot get away from our acts nor their consequences. They are more indelible than the strongest ink since they are seared into the souls of the sinner and victim alike. If it is not possible to hold a conference of bootleggers and moonshiners with prayer by the ministers, then why not individual conferences with personal prayer?

"God is not mocked, and look, whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap."

BARBOURVILLE BAPTIST INSTITUTE OPENED TUESDAY

Tuesday morning the Barbourville Baptist Institute opened its doors to the biggest number of students that has ever attended. There are about thirty more enrolled than at this time last year and still others are expected within a short time.

The Institute has a faculty to be proud of and includes educators who will bring about a high standard of scholarship.

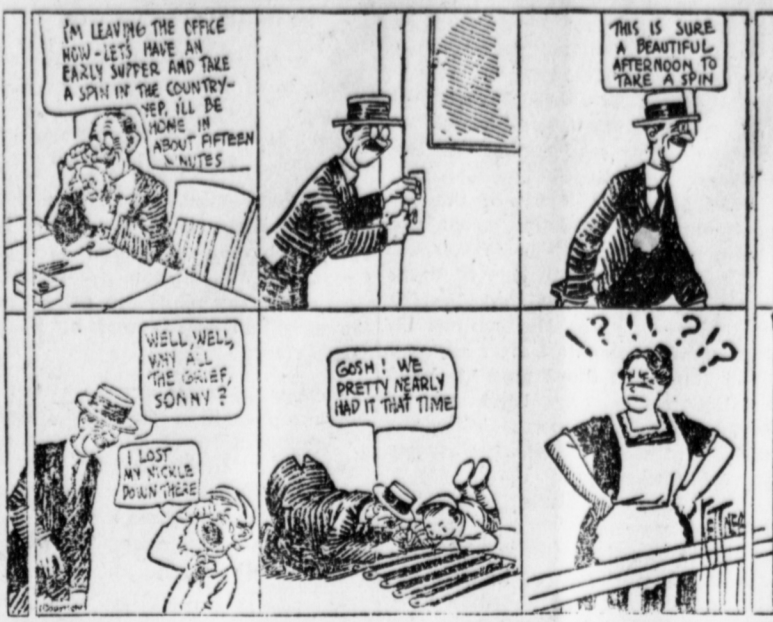

Opening addresses were made by Robert W. Cole, cashier of the First National Bank, W. R. Marsee, the chairman of the Board of Trustees, County Judge J. T. Stamper and Dr. Oscar Lee Minks, the new president of the Institute.

The Commercial Department, which is under the able management of Prof. Clarence E. Bunnell, is filling up rapidly and this term will turn out a considerable number of boys and girls who will be equipped with a first class commercial education and as a consequence will be able to face life with that equanimity which comes to those who are prepared to fill business positions in the commercial world.

Altogether the prospects for B. B. I. are excellent and we are to be congratulated on having such a wide awake school in our midst.

Dr. D. Edgar Allen, pastor of the Baptist Church, was in Louisville this week.

On the Road of Good Intentions

THE COUNTY FAIR

According to the officials in charge of the County Fair for 1922 more people were present this year than for many preceding seasons. The days were fine with the exception of showers one afternoon and people from all over the county took advantage of the weather to meet their friends and talk over things which had happened since they previously met.

In spite of the railroad strike a large number of concessions got thru including the merry-go-round and the Ferris wheel. Girls were seen carrying the usual dolls, wide stomachs and with tinsel decorations, a tremendous amount of "soft liquor" was absorbed to the benefit and not the detriment of the drinkers and it may safely be said that never has good humor and friendliness been so evident as at last week's fair. It was a prohibition argument, of the strongest kind and one that will be noted even by those who still believe in an individual liberty to become public nuisances and public danger by getting drunk.

The races attracted big crowds to the track fence and horses, mules and riders all apparently enjoyed the trial of speed.

The display of agricultural products and fruits showed a wide variety can be profitably grown in this county and if one or two zones could be established for the wholesale growth of such products and carload shipments made, Knox County would begin to come into its own as a center of trucking and would be decidedly more prosperous than it is at present. Among the exhibits were the following:—corn, popcorn, oats, wheat, beans, sweet potatoes, onions, turnips, potatoes, beets, cucumbers, tomatoes, cabbage, peppers, dried apples and dried peaches, apples, crab apples, pears, grapes, watermelons, (one weighing 90 pounds), squash, pumpkins, pawpaws, persimmons. This is certainly a goodly number of products to be raised from a generous Mother Earth and as stated, business methods in growing and marketing will (in the near future we hope) make of Knox County a leader in shipping just such products to the outside world.

Among the preserved, vegetables, etc., were chow-chow, cherries cucumbers, peas, pieplant, pears, beans, peaches, beets, tomatoes, plums, pineapple (the only outside product) apples, sweet peppers, parsnips, blackberries, currants sweet cider.

The jellies looked delicious and included pie-plant, apple, grape, green and ripe tomato, and plum. A beautiful display was that of Mrs. L. L. McDonald, of Pineville, who had prepared her jellies in pretty glasses, the jellies being run in, allowed to cool and then other colors being poured on top, producing a charming layer effect. Cream cheese also mixed with peppers, butter, cheese, honey, broomcorn and cane made up the best display in years.

Doughnuts, cakes, biscuits, ginger cake, cookies and lightbread were the products of housewifely skill that showed a knowledge of the needs of the human interior.

The needlework department drew considerable attention. Here were such articles as a table cover hand woven on an old-fashioned loom with coverlid border, the work of Mrs. Sarah Hughes, tatted and crocheted table covers, pillow covers with

FAMILY REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Hignite had a family reunion at their home on Allison Avenue last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gates, parents of Mrs. Hignite, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. George Lane and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Webb and two sons Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lane and Miss Bertha Lane motored over from Knoxville for the occasion. Twenty-two members of the family were present including the parents of Mr. Hignite and also Grandma Messamore who had been too sick to leave her home for ten months.

This was the first time the family had all been together for fifteen years. After dinner the entire number enjoyed a trip to Girdler and Dishman Springs. The party separated hoping for many more happy days like this one. Mr. and Mrs. Gates and party returned to their homes Monday afternoon.

AFTERNOON BRIDGE

Mrs. J. D. Tuggle entertained ten tables of bridge at her home on River Street on Tuesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. R. P. Black, of Knoxville, Tenn. Delicious punch was dispensed on the porch by Mrs. Charles Black, of Huntington, W. Va. as the guests arrived. Many colored dahlias were used in decoration. Ices, cake, nuts and mints were served after the game in which Miss Mary McDermott made high score and Mrs. George Tye low score.

punch work, knitted articles, tatting, crocheted boudoir caps, hand knitted socks, embroidery, drawn work, crocheted rag rugs, punch rugs made with coffee sacks as a base, quilt work, crazy quilts (one that belongs to Mrs. E. G. Garrard being 76 years old,) hexagon pattern crocheted counterpanes, silk and calico quilts. All these things are mute evidence of how much the home depends on the needle of mother and sister, without whom—but why contemplate such a horrible possibility!

Stock, apart from mules and horses, was scarce and this department should be drummed up next year. Knox County has excellent possibilities for stock raising and in this connection the Fair officials should make it easy for several silos concerns to show silos, with the cutting and filling apparatus. They increase the value of land by saving everything grown from corn to sunflowers, peas and grass and the increase in dairy cattle butter fat is quite 25 per cent when ensilage is fed.

The mule and horse display showed some good stock and created considerable interest among the men.

Many outsiders, really home "boys and girls" came in for the Fair and were hailed with delight. As a meeting place for old friends the Knox County Fair takes the palm.

Its main weakness lies in the stock department which should really be a big factor. We believe that it could be made a big feature by offering good prizes and interesting silo and farm machinery firms in the stock end of things.

This is said in the friendliest spirit as we believe the stock holders all have live stock development at heart as a means of promoting a greater prosperity. That the other displays were decidedly finer is also a matter for congratulation.

B. W. M. U. ENTERTAINS

The Baptist Woman's Missionary Union, which is a virile organization and full of pep, entertained most delightfully at the hospitable home of Judge and Mrs. W. R. Lay Tuesday night about fifty being present. The guests were teachers of the Institute and members of the society with their husbands. The affair was very much enjoyed by all.

PINEVILLE KIWANIS FAVOR $300,000 ROAD BOND ISSUE

Pineville Kiwanians at their regular meeting this week launched a proposal to vote on a $300,000 bond issue, which, if carried thru, will appear on the regular ballot at the November election. Petitions to be signed individually by each member were distributed at the meeting to be filled in the county court next Monday.

The matter was referred to the publicity committee of the club with directions to take the matter up with the promoters of the petition to have it inserted in it that the money shall apply first to the building of the Harlan road from Page to the Harlan County line. After the Harlan road is completed the remaining money will be spent on other roads in the county.—Middlesboro Daily News.

B. W. M. U. AND INSTITUTE TEACHERS ARE ENTERTAINED

Tuesday night Judge and Mrs. W. R. Lay very delightfully entertained the members of the Baptist Woman's Missionary Union, their husbands and the faculty of the Baptist Institute. About fifty guests were present to partake of this charming hospitality which was greatly enjoyed by all present.

JOHN MAYS KILLED

John Mays was killed at Locust Grove Church Saturday night about 200 yards from the church building, just across the line in Whitley county. Sheriff J. M. Carnes, Deputies T. H. Phillips and Charlie West went to the home of two of the Fuson boys living in Knox county and arrested them for the alleged shooting. John Mays was a deputy sheriff of Knox County. Deputy Phillips took the two Fuson boys to Williamsburg Monday for examining trial.

CHANGE OF OWNERSHIP

George H. May, one of the owners of the grocery company known as Golden & May, has bought out Reese Golden and will run under the name of the May Grocery Company. Mr. May was a resident of Barbourville for five years previously and has many friends in town. He will appreciate the business of his friends and will be glad to make more.

Mrs. J. F. Hawn and children made an auto trip to Middlesboro last week which was really a sight seeing excursion for the children.

TO THE PATRONS AND FRIENDS OF THE BARBOURVILLE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The approaching session of our public school brings with it manifold opportunities and heavy responsibilities:—this, I think, we all realize.

If we, as teachers, do not realize this, and do not endeavor to utilize these opportunities and to meet the responsibilities with earnestness, and with zeal and devotion, then we are unworthy of the trust committed unto us.

However, the work to be done and the accomplishments to be achieved call loudly for co-operation. The School Board has its part, the patrons have their share and, of course the teachers have their work. Remissness on the part of any one of this means more or less diminishing of results obtained.

The School Board I have found to be loyal indeed to the interests of the pupils. They are willing to put forth effort, to devote time, energy and ability in establishing a school that will best assist the students in their preparation for life's work.

Too, I have found the patrons, in general, to be as loyal, as true-spirited, and as much interested in the progress of their sons and daughters as any community that I, in a varied experience, have worked with anywhere and what we all desire is true progress. Let us, then, co-operate. Some one perhaps, reading this, is wondering if I have any special suggestions that I make at this time.

Please work with us in having the pupils at school on time and in having their attendance regular. Of course we are unable to teach absent pupils and tardiness interrupts the classes and allows in the pupils a careless habit of meeting life's duties which, in itself, may wreck the life of a child. Punctuality may mean more to a child than many of the things secured from a book.

Next we request patrons to look after the home study of pupils. Pupils above the lowest grades usually do not have sufficient time in school to do the requisite study. A lack of home study last year greatly weakened the work of many pupils.

Next I ask that you help place in the minds of all good-meaning people the proper estimate of the work of the public school in our system of government of the people for the people and by the people.

We ask you to come out to our opening next Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock and to begin right by lending us your co-operation from the first. Let us leave undone no act that will assist in placing our school on that high level that State Superintendent Colvin and his co-workers are so earnestly, so ably, so persistently striving to have all the public schools of our Great Commonwealth occupy.

G. M. Richards, Manager of the Cumberland & Manchester Railroad, left Sunday night to hunt cars for anxious would-be coal shippers.

UNION COLLEGE

Following the inspiration of a successful Endowment Campaign, Union College is adding some very excellent new material to her faculty.
The department of History in the College Department is being instituted this year with Prof. Hilda Lundin, A.M., Ph.D., at the head of it. Dr. Lundin is from the University of Iowa and has had several years of successful teaching experience and she comes recommended most highly.

Professor Jacob Bos, A.M., from New York University, will head the department of Ancient Languages, Latin and Greek. He is also a teacher of successful experience. He has almost finished his Ph.D. at the University of Chicago.

Miss Florence Von Waldheim,
from Sarbonne, the famous French University, and holding European diplomas equivalent to the Master's Degree, will head the department of Romance Languages. Miss Von Waldheim has taught several years in the Imperial University of Petrograd. She speaks French, German, Russian and English perfectly and is a very unusual teacher.

Professor Francis Anthony Nunvar comes as head of the Conservatory of Music. Professor Nunvar is a graduate of the conservatories at Berlin, Leipzig and Munich. He has been an American for many years and has been at the head of several music departments in American Colleges. He is unquestionably the best trained musician that we ever had in this section. He teaches piano and violin. He is also a great orchestra leader and once more Union College orchestra will be a contributor to the various social and cultural inspiration of the college and community.

Mrs. Nunvar, from the New York School of Music and Arts, comes to head the department of Voice. Her most successful experience in other schools in this department is a guarantee that we will have the best work in voice that we have ever had.

Miss Mildred Flemming, of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, is one of the most brilliant performers on the piano and one of the best teachers that the Conservatory has turned out in many a year. She will teach piano.

Miss Helen Wahl, B. S., Iowa
State College, is another new teacher and will head the department of Home Economics.

Besides this new talent that is coming into the Upper Cumberland Valley there remains the old guard whom everybody knows and loves for their faithful and successful work and we give just a bit of news about them.

Professor Peavy taught in the summer school and he and Mrs.
Peavy are spending the rest of the vacation in their old home in Pennsylvania.

Miss Weeks by whom everybody swears and our famous head of the English department, is taking a vacation at Chautauque, N. Y., the famous seat of universal inspiration.

Professor Hewes, of the department of science, is doing work in the summer school in the University of Illinois.

Professor S. P. Franklin of the department of Psychology and Education and who was very popular with the student body, faculty and community last year, is spending summer in the University of Iowa.

Professor Humfeet, whom every body in several counties is acquainted with and who is known as a maker of public school teachers, taught in the summer school and is now doing field work for the college.
Professor Burnett, of the Model School, spent the summer at Eastern Kentucky State Normal.

Miss Cora Sevier, the teacher of Swimming, demonstrated her great ability in this field by teaching a very successful summer term at one of the pools at Knoxville, Tenn.

Mr. W. B. Trosper, Director of Physical Education and Coach of Athletics, spent the summer at the University of Illinois.

Miss Mildred Murphy, of the department of Expression, spent the summer at her home in Illinois.

Mr. Algin Simms, teacher of Brass and Reed Instruments and director of the band, spent the summer in Barbourville looking after a new band stand and developing his band until it rivals any band to be found in a small town. With the coming of the students he expects several new recruits.

Miss Nannie L. Taylor, our faithful secretary, has stayed by the job at the office except two weeks vacation which she spent at home.

President and Mrs. Franklin have been "at home" during the summer except two weeks spent by President Franklin at Columbia University.

In a few days all will be returning for what is expected to be the greatest year in the history of the college. Many new students are expected with a considerable increase in the college department.

Never before in the history of the world has the Door of Opportunity been flung so wide open.

Your past is dead and gone.

"Feeling Fine!"

"I was pale and thin, hardly able to go," says Mrs. Bessie Bearden, of Central, S. C. "I would suffer, when I stood on my feet, with bearing-down pains in my sides and the lower part of my body. I did not rest well and didn't want anything to eat. My color was bad and I felt miserable. A friend of mine told me of and I then remembered my mother used to take it. After the first bottle I was better. I began to freshen up and I regained my strength and good, healthy color. I am feeling fine. I took twelve bottles (of Cardui) and haven't had a bit of trouble since."

Thousands of other women have had similar experiences in the use of Cardui, which has brought relief where other medicines had failed.

If you suffer from female ailments, take Cardui. It is a woman's medicine. It may be just what you need.

WORDS OF APPRECIATION

Kentucky Houses of Reform Greendale, Ky. Aug. 29, 1922. Dear Friends and Fellow Citizens of Barbourville:

An abundance of words of good cheer and hosts of best wishes went out from the officers of the Kentucky Houses of Reform when Professor Robert B. McDonald left on the evening train to spend his vacation visiting friends in his home town of Barbourville.

While Professor McDonald will be missed not only by the officers of this institution and his many friends in and around Lexington, he will be especially missed by his fellow room mates. Since coming here last June to teach in the school department we have roomed with "Bob" and it has been his always cheerful personality that has helped us to see the joy in life and to find happiness in our work.

Professor McDonald is a very accomplished instructor in all kinds of brass instruments and he has been remarkably successful in this institution and also in the Eastern State Hospital where he has classes. The proof of the merit of Prof. McDonald's work lies in the fact that he takes boys who have had no previous musical training whatever and soon teaches them to perform very well on the different band instruments. The institution band is claimed by Supt. Hickman and other state officers to be the finest in the history of the school. This is but a testimony of the superiority of Prof. McDonald's work.

The instruction Mr. McDonald gives at the Eastern State Hospital is the same as his work here. He devotes part of each day to his classes there and he has achieved a wonderful success in his work there.

In a way we all were sorry to see "Old Bob" go, but he has worked hard and all feel that after he has spent a little while among his good Knox County friends he will come back to us again feeling much better. Our place of abode is now a cheerless spot since Professor left and it will continue to be so until we see "Bob's" smiling face and hear his laughing voice again.

And so, our good friends of Barbourville, we hope you will be good to the Professor while he is among you. Show him a good time and spare him to come back to us.

Knox County should feel proud of Professor McDonald and our only regret is that there are not more of his type in our fair state.

Signed:

Prof. R. R. Richards

A TALK ON PISTON RINGS

The general motoring public is paying more heed to the motors in their automobiles now than they ever have in the past, according to statements made by leading automobile engineers. The desire for good looking bodies and details which add to the comfort and looks of the car has not lessened a bit owing to this added motor interest.

"Probably the most interesting part of the development of this desire of motorists to know their motors is the keen appreciation of good working parts which cannot be seen or heard while in the engine," one engineer recently stated.

"Motorists are beginning to realize that the three vital parts of a motor are in the cylinders—the piston rings, pistons and pins. By renewing these parts inside cylinders which have been re-ground, a motor may now be made practically 'good as new.' Shops are springing up all over the country for doing this work. Expert machinists are giving their entire time and attention to it. Special machinery and tools are required; with these the expert repair man re-grinds—and sometimes reshapes—cylinders to a slight oversize and then puts in new pistons, new piston pins, and the right rings are what bring back lost power and pick-up in a motor."

The need for piston rings can be noticed immediately when the motor slacks up and the gas isn't giving the same mileage it did when the car was new. Worn or leaky piston rings allow the gas and power to waste by them at every stroke of the piston. The excessive use of oil may also be stopped by the use of correct rings.

The McQuay-Norris Manufacturing Company of St. Louis, with its complete line of piston rings, pistons and pins, is perhaps the best known manufacturer of high grade piston rings in the world. A complete stock of all standard sizes and oversizes of their Leak-Proof, Superoyl, Jiffy-Grip and Snap rings is now carried in this city. Prompt and efficient service can be given on all sizes and oversizes and the proper installation of any type or price of ring one desires is now possible.

Department of Justice Makes Best Record in Its History

Has Performed Prodigious Amount of Work, Successfully Defended Government and Instituted Proceedings Against War Frauds.

U. S. REPRESENTATIVE JOSEPH WALSH (MASS.), MEMBER HOUSE COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY

The activities and accomplishments of the Department of Justice during the past 15 months comprise the most successful record that department has made since its establishment. The largest amount of business in the history of that department has been transacted for the current year on less money than was appropriated for the preceding year.

A veritable avalanche of business was clogging the dockets in nearly every United States District Court and new cases being entered in unprecedented numbers when Attorney General Daugherty took charge of the Department of Justice March 4, 1921. He found the department disorganized. It was necessary to make a survey not only of his own force but of the various cases pending in the several United States Courts throughout the country. This gigantic task was accomplished with thoroughness and dispatch.

Early in his incumbency Attorney General Daugherty began an investigation of the so-called War Fraud cases. After he had thoroughly surveyed the situation and he and his staff were ready to proceed he asked for an appropriation of half a million dollars to enable him to employ additional and competent special attorneys to conduct the actual work of grand jury investigation and prosecution. The men whom he selected for this task are skilled lawyers: Former Senator Charles S. Thomas, of Colorado, a Democrat who was conspicuous in the Senate investigation of the aircraft scandal; former Congressman C. F. Reavis, of Nebraska, who was a member of the House Committee which investigated the expenditures of the War Department; former Congressman R. D. MacCullough, of Ohio, also a member of that Committee, and Mr. Meier Steinbrink, of New York, who assisted Charles E. Hughes in the famous aircraft inquiry of 1918, and who was also employed as Special Counsel for the House Committee on investigating war expenditures. It is safe to say no staff could have been selected who were better qualified by their legal attainments and by their particular experience and knowledge of the war graft situation.

Never in the history of the Department of Justice have the anti-trust laws been so vigorously prosecuted as during the last 15 months. For the first time jail sentences were imposed as a punishment for violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act in the case of United States vs. Alexander Reed, et al. The department at this time has under investigation more than 50 cases of alleged violations of the Anti-Trust Act and has pending in the courts 26 such cases. Since March 4, 1921, the Attorney General's office has won 109 cases in the United States Supreme Court and lost 41. In that time it has tried 166 suits in the various United States Courts and won 110. The department has been very successful in defending the government in the United States Court of Claims where litigation has greatly increased as a result of war contracts and tax cases. Twenty suits were decided in this court on June 12, in which the Attorney General's department appeared for the government. In these 20 cases the government sued for the aggregate of $16,619,693. The total of the amounts allowed was only $533,365.

This, in brief, is an outline of some of the more important activities of the Department of Justice since March 4, 1921. An enormous amount of work has been performed and every branch of the judicial service is characterized by energy, intelligence and dispatch. The record of the department under the present administration not only reflects great credit upon Attorney General Daugherty and President Harding, but it inspires confidence and respect of our people everywhere in the courts and in those in whom the responsibility and power of administering the law is invested. It will remind our people that this is a government of laws and not of men.

RIGHT CULTURE OF CABBAGE

Rich Soil Encourages Fast Growth, Large and Solid Heads—Chinese Variety Differs.

The history of the development of the cabbage gives the key to its culture. The richer the soil and the faster it is kept growing, the larger and solid the heads. It must be grown fast to head fast. If through lack of fertility or drought its growth is checked, there is either no real head or a loose, very inferior one, the whole strength of the plant going to develop such leaves as it had produced before the check. The Chinese cabbage is an entirely different species from the common cabbage and its brothers.

KEEP COMPOST HEAP MOIST

Arrange Pile So That Rain Will Keep Material Wet and Prevent Loss of Fertility.

"It is of the utmost importance," says the Flower Grower, "that the top of the pile be kept hollow or at least flat, so that rain will keep the material wet and prevent burning and loss of fertility. Don't let the pile get rounded on top under any circumstances, as it should absorb the rainfall and not shed it, and, therefore, the nearer level it is kept the better job of composting will result."

RESCUED

By GERTRUDE CUSHING

(©, 1922, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

A swift, silent scuffle, the odds all on one side—then two men go dumbly to the corner, the one in blue with brass buttons stepping with all the stolid decision his dragging charge permits. A word whispered into a police patrol box. A quick-drawn, staring crowd, men and boys, women and girls, thrusting heads forward, peering with sickening curiosity, some almost fingering the shrinking victim. The clangor of a rapidly approaching gong.

As it comes nearer the boy pulls out a decent handkerchief and covers his face from the disgusting audience. He had been drunk before—he didn't mind that so much—or the corrective hand of the law; but those staring faces!

At the first sound of the gong on the patrol three girls in an office high above the street gave interested attention.

"Here comes Mr. Volstead!" cried one.

The tableau being enacted below was getting to be an ordinary occurrence to the girls.

"Oh, dear! Isn't it too bad!"

"He looks so ashamed—"

"Yes, and he's well dressed—and clean. It makes me want to do something."

All the afternoon the last speaker tried in vain to forget the scene.

By closing time the desire to "do something," obsessed her. She ceased combing it. She let it lead her.

"Scant of breath and weak of voice, but resolute, she entered the nearest police station. Question and answer followed, short and direct. Her description was exact. The man was there.

"But what do you want with him? Do you know him?"

The girl's cheeks flamed. "Oh, no! I couldn't come, you know, if I did. I thought—I am sure it must be the first time. Perhaps he'd like to send for someone."

"No, ma'am, it's not the first time. It's the third time in two months."

The girl had done war work—many kinds of war work.

"You ought to see that I'm not like most girls. I'm older," she told the officer, "and I understand things. I know how to talk to them."

"Oh, well," thought the officer, "I might as well let her do something. She'll go quicker." So: "He's a queer duck. Always wants paper and pencil. Bring him some, if you want to."

It was not easy to make the object of her solicitude talk. He took the paper, thanked her indifferently, waited for her to go. "If you'll write quickly," he coaxed him, "I'll mail it."

"I can't," he faltered. "My head—it's all mixed up—aches horribly—"

"What did you come here for?" This last with sudden interest.

"To help you. I'll write it for you. You tell me what to say. Do you want to send for someone?"

This roused him. "For heaven's sake, no! Don't you tell her!" he cried.

Then he began to sob, weakly. After that he talked. For sympathy, perhaps, or perhaps he yielded to the girl's stronger will. As he talked she wrote, adroit questioning giving her what she needed to know.

"I was always no good," he told her, "until the war. I'm not a coward. I volunteered. Went to France, 1914. I was a lieutenant when it finished—by promotion. She knows that. I tell her all the good things."

Still following impulse, the girl countered: "You said you were not a coward. Prove it. Make a fight for her sake—and mine."

"For yours? You mean that?"

Frightened at the thrill in the man's voice—at the thrill in herself—she turned to go. He dropped to his knees. His lips pressed the hem of her dress. "You'll come again?" he entreated.

"Perhaps."

The next day the city police boat collided with a ferry boat while crossing the harbor. Above the dull thud of the impact, the splintering of wood and women's screams, came the cry of "Woman overboard!"

On the police boat a man, madly cursing, fought his keepers, flung them aside and plunged into the churning water. But a few hours before a girl had summoned him to new life—to prove his manhood, and now—

"O, God, let me save her!" he prayed.

They were both conscious when lifted into the lifeboat.

"You," she whispered, in wonder.

"Oh, I'm glad—I'm glad!"

"Quick, your name," he urged.

"Where shall I find you—after three months?"

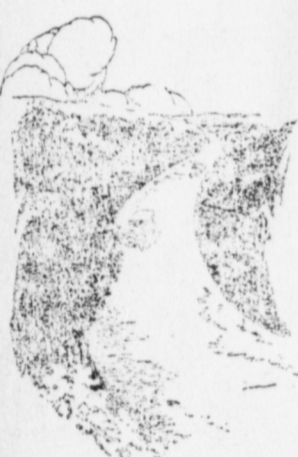

She answered, then closed her eyes in a happy stupor. Gently, with infinite respect, they led him away.

Hold 'Em, Men!

It was moonlight on the river. "Isn't it wonderful!" she sighed, lifting her paddle gently. "How lovely the moonpath is, reaching from the very throne of God to earth! See how silver the drops falling from my paddle! Ah, the very night itself is perfumed with sentiment, and everywhere—"

"Say," he interrupted, "cut that out, will yuh? I come mighty near getting myself engaged to a girl that talked that way in a canoe!"—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Your Roof is a Highway for the Elements

Like good roads, good roofing must be built on a solid foundation, then properly surfaced, if it is to stand up under the wear and tear of weather-traffic.

Over the highway of countless roof-tops rolls the traffic of weather—season after season, year after year. And the test of structural strength in roofing is just as severe under the pounding of winter gales and summer rains.

Genuine Richardson felt—the perfected product of over 50 years' experience—is the "road bed" under the weather-proof surface of Flex-a-Tile Giant Shingles. This tough, durable fabric is asphalt-saturated, then thickly coated on both sides. The result is a surface in which heat, cold or moisture can find no crack or crevice.

FLEX-A-TILE HOUSE TOPS

Rich green slate from the Richardson quarries at Flex-a-Tile, Georgia, is enameled on Giant Shingles, and satisfies the last roofing requirement—beauty. (If you prefer, you can specify red). Whether on the most pretentious dwelling or modest bungalow, such a roof assures economy through long service, and complete satisfaction through attractive appearance. And remember, Flex-a-Tile shingles can be laid over old shingling or a new surface—in fact, the extra thickness means double insulation and far less labor in replacing the roof.

No other type of asphalt shingle gives such satisfactory results when used in this way.

Telephone for further information.

T. F. FAULKNER

Flex-a-Tile Giant Shingles are 50% heavier and 100% stiffer than standard asphalt shingles and cost less than a third more. The extra thickness adds to the beauty of the roof as well as to its permanence. Flex-a-Tile House Tops are a product of The Richardson Company.
